

ADI JHA

Your journey, your voice - Trust Adi to stay on track, listen, act, and deliver.

Hello Everyone!

I'm Adi, a first-year Accounting and Finance student. You'll often see me at Kingston Hill, but I go to all KU campuses, whether I'm attending events, lectures or just riding the Uni bus for fun. My name is short, but here is what I stand for:

A - Accountability: I will build lasting foundations for student voices to be heard throughout my three years here. I'll carry on the great work of my predecessors, ensuring your concerns are raised in both formal meetings and everyday campus interactions.

D - Diversity: I want to increase the visibility of volunteering, academic, and social opportunities for students of all backgrounds. By boosting participation, we can strengthen our connections and celebrate our differences while respecting one another.

I - Inclusion: I'll use my passion for people to ensure every student feels heard. We are all Kingston University London, and we all matter.

I hope to have your support in communicating for a better Kingston.
